The Great Bed of Ware

The Bed has now returned to the V&A following its year long loan to Ware Museum but it is not forgotten!

Its time here forms part of our newly designed displays on the history of Ware.

You may not be able to see or touch the Great Bed - but you can still touch and feel our full size replica of one of the bedposts.

We do still have part of a coverlet from the Great Bed of Ware, which would have been with the Bed when it was in use, given by Lowewood Museum.

Learn more of its History in 'The Great Bed of Ware Story'.
